Nisar Aziz Agri-Tech Center

Fostering Rural Development

Students of Agribusiness unveiled the name of Agri-Tech Center during Mr. Imran Khan's meeting with the Namal Family. The Nisar Aziz Agri-Tech has been set-up by Mr. Ashar Aziz, Founder and Chairman of SkyElectric, Inc. The center is named after Mr. Ashar Aziz's mother, a celebrated novelist who is known for her profound contributions in literature.

Mr. Ashar Aziz is also Member, Board of Governors of Namal Institute and is actively supporting Namal's efforts to create a robust agricultural economy through technology. The primary object and purpose of setting up the center is to impart modern agricultural education and training to the youth and farmers of the impoverished communities to enable them to learn low cost modern farming techniques in order to address the agricultural problems through effective technological solutions.

World-Renowned Architect Joins Namal

Tony Ashai

The global Namal Family has welcomed a very special member, Tony Ashai, an internationally acclaimed architect who has now firmly embraced the challenge of materializing the vision of Namal Knowledge City. He visited Namal Institute to embark on his journey of meticulously creating a comprehensive master plan for the city.

Tony Ashai is a dreamer and creative genius who has developed award winning architectural designs in leading megalopolises from New York to Dubai. Born in Kashmir, Tony Ashai moved to California and founded his own architectural firm. He now joins Namal to pay homage to Pakistan by materializing the vision of Namal Knowledge City.

Cultivating Excellence through Information & Communication Technologies (ICT) Lab

Mr. Imran Khan inaugurated ICT Lab at Namal Institute considerably strengthening Namal's digital infrastructure. The lab will help promote culture of research while bolstering learning opportunities for students undertaking courses related to artificial intelligence, internet of things, big data, and distributed networks.

The equipment for the lab was contributed by Huawei Technologies under Huawei-Namal partnership for sustaining Pakistan's goal for technological uplift, especially in rural areas.
